Directions: You need to search the internet or print sources (check newspapers and magazines) for a map you find interesting. It cannot be a typical physical or political map. Either print off the map, or write down the url (also post the url to the GIS class forum in the section called "find a map") and answer the following questions.

Thought Questions

1. What is the title of your map?
2. What information does it show?
3. Why did you select this particular map? What made it so interesting to you?
4. Do you trust the information on this map? Why or why not?
5. Overall would you say this is a "good" map or a "bad" map? Explain your reasoning.
